

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention provides a wireless folding keyboard for a personal digital assistant which has a stand for supporting the personal digital assistant in the appropriate orientation to receive the wireless signals.